

Your future rural life?

A new development is proposed that could very soon lead to a waste incineration plant some 51m in height and 180m long with a 96m high chimney to be built at Lower Greatmoor Farm, Edgcott, that will continually burn waste.

- Surrounding towns and villages are in the line for the fallout of ash, toxins and heavy metals raining down on our children, families and homes.
- There is scientific research which shows that people living near a waste incinerator have increased incidences of cancers, birth defects, infant mortality and respiratory disease.
- Putting this development in the middle of beautiful open countryside will have the effect of turning it into an industrial wasteland, with an inevitable decline in the value of our homes for miles around.

This development will affect YOU. If you care you must act to stop this to protect your family and your way of life. Find out how you can help on www.besavi.co.uk

The proposed incinerator alongside the Bucks County Hall in Aylesbury

Your future rural life?

A new development is proposed that could very soon lead to a waste incineration plant some 51m in height and 180m long with a 96m high chimney to be built at Lower Greatmoor Farm, Edgcott, that will continually burn waste.

- Surrounding towns and villages are in the line for the fallout of ash, toxins and heavy metals raining down on our children, families and homes.
- There is scientific research which shows that people living near a waste incinerator have increased incidences of cancers, birth defects, infant mortality and respiratory disease.
- Putting this development in the middle of beautiful open countryside will have the effect of turning it into an industrial wasteland, with an inevitable decline in the value of our homes for miles around.

This development will affect YOU. If you care you must act to stop this to protect your family and your way of life. Find out how you can help on www.besavi.co.uk

The proposed incinerator alongside the Bucks County Hall in Aylesbury